Survey of Users

"With unconcealed pride Editor & Publisher presents to the advertising business world the Space Buyers' Guide, dedicated to the science of advertising."

Introduction to the first Space Buyers' Guide. December 13, 1924

When the above paragraph was written in 1924 as a part of the introduction to the Space Buyers' Guide, the original title of the Market Guide, Editor & Publisher had every right to be proud. They had succeeded in doing what the Association of National Advertisers, the American Association of Advertising Agencies and other marketing organizations had been calling for but no one had been able to produce — a single source of information about individual markets that could be used in the formulation of national and regional marketing plans.

As expressed in the first edition, "Truth in advertising is no longer a mere slogan, but common practice. Rates based upon audited circulation have become almost universal practice; the advertiser no longer buys unknown quantity. But haphazard placement of advertising has not been uncommon during recent years, not because of any insincerity of purpose among advertising men nor loose methods among advertisers, but wholly because definite information as to the character of cities and towns, physical, social and economic, has not been available."

Many times since 1924 Editor & Publisher has met with Market Guide users and has conducted surveys to assure that we kept pace with the changing requirements of the field, and many changes and additions have been made in the data presented. One thing that has remained constant is our definition of a market for inclusion in the Market Guide as a city in which a daily newspaper is published, on the premise that a town or city large enough to support a daily newspaper is a key market.

This year we have commissioned an independent organization to survey our users and former users — Farrar, Sullivan, Vasquez, Inc. If you are contacted we would appreciate your cooperation and time in answering their questions, which have been designed to help us serve you better.

How to use the 1985 Editor & Publisher Market Guide

Preceded by pages of general information designed to facilitate its use, the data in this MARKET GUIDE is presented in four sections:

1. Market Ranking Tables
These tables show, ranked by size according to E&P estimates for 1985, the population, disposable income, total retail sales, total food sales, and income per household of all MSAs, PMSAs and larger counties and cities of the U.S.A.

2. Individual Market Surveys-United States
Facts and figures about all United States daily newspaper markets, listed alphabetically by state and city in the U.S.A., followed by Puerto Rico. The sample survey below shows the information included, and how the data is generally shown. A state map introduces surveys for each state, showing MSAs, PMSAs, CMSAs, county boundaries, location of all daily newspaper cities, and county seat cities without daily newspapers.

3. Individual Market Surveys-Canada
Facts and figures about all Canadian daily newspaper markets. The map for Canada shows national and provincial capitals, and location of all daily newspaper cities.

4. Sales, Population and Income Tables
E&P 1985 retail sales estimates, total, and in nine categories, with number of stores in each, for all MSAs or PMSAs, U.S. counties and daily newspaper cities. Tables are arranged alphabetically by state (by province in Canada), followed by tables of estimated 1985 population, personal income—total, per capita and per household; also number of farms and value of crops and livestock.

EVERY DAY, THE NEWSPAPERS PUBLISH ALL OF YOUR COMPETITION'S LITTLE SECRETS.

Newspaper ads can tell you a lot about your competition that they'd rather you didn't know.

Like how big their budgets really are.

Or where they're test-marketing their new products.

And which existing brands are experimenting with major strategy shifts.

It's all there, if you read between the linage. And that's exactly what the ACB Market Intelligence Tracking System, Mintsystem for short, does for you.

Every day, we monitor the advertising placed in every daily and Sunday newspaper in America—all 1,760 of them. Plus hundreds of major weeklies.

And after looking at all that advertising in all those papers, we're able to discover quite a few interesting facts.

Facts that are next to impossible to get with any other single kind of research service.

Facts about everybody who uses newspaper advertising to sell any product or any brand, anywhere in this country.

So if you want to know more about your competition, you'll want to know more about Mintsystem.

Call us toll-free at 1-800-847-4600. (In New York, call 212/685-7300.) We'll be happy to send you a sample report.

RETAIL SALES ESTIMATES

The basis for kind-of-business classifications used in the Editor & Publisher Market Guide is the same as used by the U.S. Department of Commerce in the Census of Retail Trade. This follows the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual (Executive Office of the President, Office of Management and Budget, Standard Industrial Classification Manual, 1972).

The 1977 Census of Retail Sales conducted by the U.S. Department of Commerce was a gigantic task and required considerable time for evaluation and tabulation. The 1977 Census is the basis for the Retail Sales Estimates included in this 1985 edition. However, strict comparison of the data for the 1972 and 1977 censuses is limited by the following factors:

Geographic boundaries of a number of areas have changed between 1972 and 1977 censuses, because of annexation and redefinition of Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas and other boundary changes.

In 1977, the Internal Revenue Service assigned a more detailed classification code to business tax returns. As a result, data for certain kinds of business are more detailed than could be shown in 1972.

Omitted from the 1977 sales statistics are sales and other taxes collected from customers as well as carrying charges or other charges for credit. These taxes/charges reported in the 1972 census have been estimated at about $10 billion for the United States as a whole.

In the 1972 census the "legal form of organization" was based on data only for establishments with a total company employment of 250 persons or more. In 1977, this was determined on the basis of the response to the legal form of organization inquiry on the census form.

This Miscellaneous Retail Store category is not inclded in the Editor & Publisher Tables of Estimated Retail Sales.

For your quick reference, we publish a complete list of the major group classifications of stores included in the Tables of Estimated Retail Sales (numbers following names are SIC codes). PT following the SIC codes refers to "part"; n.e.c. refers to "not elsewhere classified."

DEFINITIONS AND NOTES

ABC—Adjacent to certain population figures and newspaper circulations in the surveys in this book are references to the Audit Bureau of Circulations. The ABC issues standardized statements of the circulation of publisher members, verifies the figures shown in these statements by auditors' examination and disseminates the circulation data to advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers.

Each publisher's statement and audit report issued to members covers the quantity, quality, distribution of circulation and circulation methods.

ADVERTISING & MERCHANDISING DATA—The daily newspaper is the prime source of information on local conditions in each of the newspaper market areas. The name, address and telephone number of people able to supply more information about these areas appears in paragraph 14 of each survey.

CIRCULATION FIGURES—The March 1984 figures appear in most of the surveys. Where March 1984 figures are not available, proper notation is made. Also indicated with the figure is whether the circulation is verified by ABC (Audit Bureau of Circulations), VAC (Verified Audit Circulation), CAC (Certified Audit of Circulations), or CPVS (Community Papers Verification Service) or comes from a sworn statement by the publisher of the newspaper.

CITY ZONE (CZ)—The corporate limits of the city in which the newspaper is published, plus in some cases, the contiguous areas built up adjacent to or surrounding the city of publication. This could also include more than one city, where the areas involved are contiguous areas.

CONSOLIDATED METROPOLITAN STATSTICAL AREA (CMSA)—The larger geographical area of which Primary Metropolitan Statistical Areas are components. CMSA's are designated and defined by the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, U.S. Department of Commerce. A complete list of these areas appears in the following pages.

CONSUMER SPENDABLE INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" below.

DISPOSABLE PERSONAL INCOME—Sometimes referred to as "Effective Buying Income" or "Consumer Spendable Income", is equal to current income received individuals, unincorporated businesses and non-profit institutions from all sources. It includes all that is received as wages, salaries, and commissions, including pensions, trust and welfare funds, labor, farm, non-farm, professional, rental, dividends, personal interest and transfer payments after taxes.

The amounts usually deducted for income, property and other taxes not deductible as business expenses, as well as other general government revenues, such as fines, penalties, and so on, have been subtracted.

EFFECTIVE BUYING INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" above.

ESTIMATES—Figures on which estimates are based are always U.S. Government figures (U.S. Census) or in Canada, the latest available Census figures from Statistics Canada. Any other figures are either identified as to source or considered "local estimates."

FARM DATA—County Data: The figures used in these tables for the counties are the latest released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The most recent agriculture census was made in 1982.

State Data: State totals of crops and livestock are released annually by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. State totals used in these tables are from the most recent USDA Statistical Bulletin. Footnotes at the bottom of each table show the year and source of data.

HOUSEHOLDS—Not to be confused with "families." The term "household" corresponds to "private dwelling unit" as defined in the Census Bureau's current operations, which would include all persons occupying a house or an apartment together.

INCOME PER HOUSEHOLD (DISPOSABLE INCOME)—The total average income earned or received by each household with direct or indirect taxes deducted.

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (MSA)—A large population nucleus with adjacent communities which have a high degree of economic and social integration with that nucleus. Metropolitan Statistical Areas are designated and defined by the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, U.S. Department of Commerce. A complete list of these areas, with explanation of the standards applied to their designation, appears in the following pages.

NEIGHBORHOOD SHOPPING AREA (OR DISTRICT)—Indicates specific street locations of active retail trade.

PASSENGER AUTOS—These figures are obtained from the various state departments of motor vehicles, where available, and generally on a county basis. However, in some states no county breakdown is available. Motor vehicle figures in Canada are obtained from the Transportation and Communications Division of Statistics Canada.

PERSONAL INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" above.

PRIMARY MARKET AREA—Considered to be that geographical area in which the newspaper provides primary editorial and advertising service. Area consists of contiguous census units (none larger than a county), and ABC rules require that paid circulation and ABC current estimate of households within each county or portion thereof shall be considered.

PRIMARY METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (PMSA)—A Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) of more than 1 million population which meets additional social and economic requirements and, together with one or more other PMSAs, forms a Consolidated Metropolitan Statistical Area (CMSA). For more information, see explanation on following pages.

RETAIL SALES ESTIMATE TABLES—Based upon the latest available (1977) U.S. Department of Commerce Census of Retail Sales, brought up-to-date, with considerations given to conditions and developments since the Census figures were collected.

Sales and "Kinds of Retail Stores" (as well as estimates) are reported as in the Bureau of Census reports, by type of store in which the sales are made (using the Standard Industrial Classification Manual codes and descriptions all listed in this volume) rather than by the products sold. For example, many non-food items are sold in food stores.

The sum of the nine types of stores will not add up to the total of retail sales estimates for each area since there is also a miscellaneous classification of stores not included in these tables.

In some areas (cities or counties), retail sales totals and retail sales per household exceed the figures shown for total income per household. This is because of the influence or attraction an area may have on the shopping patterns or habits of those who live adjacent to or outside it.

RETAIL TRADING ZONE (RTZ)—The area beyond the City Zone whose residents regularly trade to an important degree with the retail merchants in the City Zone. In establishing the boudaries of the RTZ, consideration is given to the transportation facilities, traffic flow, traveling time and schedules by both public facilities, private cars and common carriers, as well as charge accounts, phone orders and regular delivery service from the central or City Zone to the outlying areas.

SHOPPING CENTER—The term is intended to apply to developments with a number and a variety of stores, including chains, supermarkets or banks, with extensive parking facilities, and located on or near a main highway.

STATISTICS CANADA—Canadian Government agency in Ottawa responsible for all official statistics covering population, retail sales, etc.

STORES—Stores are typed according to the definition of the 1977 U.S. Census of Business (Retail Trade) which use the Standard Industrial Classification Manual codes and descriptions.

SUPERMARKET—This term involves these three conditions: annual sales volume of at least $1 million; four departments; dairy, meat, produce and groceries; and a grocery department that is entirely self-service.

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREAS
(MSAs, PMSAs and CMSAs)

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA definitions, which replaced the familiar Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) on June 30, 1983, were first developed and issued in the late 1940s. Their major purpose was to enable all federal statistical agencies to use consistent geographic definitions in the study of metropolitan characteristics. These definitions made it possible to compare more accurately population, housing, employment, trade and industry statistics. State and local governments, as well as the private sector, soon found these definitions most useful.

Metropolitan Statistical Areas are defined according to a set of detailed standards prepared by the Federal Committee on MSAs which advises the Office of Management and Budget. These standards are periodically reviewed in connection with each Decennial Census of Population.

In June 1983, the Committee released the results of a comprehensive review; this contained revisions in the criteria for designating MSAs, as well as new concepts in titling and classifying them. The old Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) was shortened to Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA). If an area has more than 1 million population and meets certain other specified requirements, it is termed a Consolidated Metropolitan Statistical Area (CMSA), which consists of major components classified as Primary Metropolitan Statistical Areas (PMSA).

The general concept underlying the MSA is that of a geographic area consisting of a large population nucleus together with adjacent communities which have a high degree of economic and social integration with that nucleus.

An MSA includes one city of at least 50,000 or more inhabitants or an urbanized area of at least 50,000 with a total metropolitan population of at least 100,000. MSAs are defined in terms of entire counties; each MSA has one or more central counties, containing the area's main population concentration. In addition to the county (or counties) containing the main city (or cities), an MSA may also include outlying counties which have close economic and social relationships with the central counties. Such counties must meet certain standards regarding "metropolitan character," such as population density, and must have a specified level of commuting to the central county(ies). For example, counties with a commuting rate of 50 percent or more must have a population density of at least 25 persons per square mile. When the commuting rate is lower than this, the density requirement proportionately increases.

In the six New England states, however, MSAs are defined in terms of cities and towns rather than entire counties. Because smaller areas are used, the total MSA population requirement is reduced from 100,000 to 75,000.

The official title of an MSA always includes the state or states into which it extends and the name of the largest city in that MSA. It might include several cities—as many as three—all dependent upon relative and minimum populations of the central city and other cities in the MSA. When more than one city appears in the MSA title, they are usually ordered by their relative populations.

In total, there are 259 recognized MSAs and 23 CMSAs, consisting of 78 PMSAs. Most MSA definitions are not subject to change until after the next national census. However, a few new MSAs may be added each year, usually because additional cities have reached the 50,000 population level according to official population estimates.

An area with more than 1 million population may be defined as a PRIMARY METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA. A PMSA is a large urbanized county or a cluster of counties that exhibit very strong social and economic links. Local opinion, obtained through Congressional delegation, is also a very strong factor in determining if an area will be designated a PMSA. The specific standards for defining PMSAs are as follows:

1. The area must include at least one county that has a population of more than 100,000;
2. At least 60 percent of this county's population must be classified as urban; and
3. Less than 50 percent of its workers commute to jobs outside the county.

The larger area of which all PMSAs are component parts is defined as a CONSOLIDATED METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA.

The complete criteria used in defining metropolitan statistical areas can be obtained directly from the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

There's no place like New England FOR RETAIL SALES

*E&P 1985 Market Guide Estimates

1985—another year of record growth projected for New England newspaper markets*

TOTAL RETAIL SALES $91,053,790,000*

Per-household retail sales $19,050
(U.S. per-household average, $16,123)

TOTAL FOOD SALES $19,843,643,000*

Per-household food sales $4,249
(U.S. per-household average, $3,351)

How come? Just look at these facts:

Personal income in New England is higher—and growing faster—than in any other U.S. region. High tech industry and low unemployment have brought income per-household to new highs yearly since 1979, with a 1985 projected average of $33,853, exceeding the national figure by more than 10%. Circulation generally on the rise, too! Don't forget in planning for the future . . .

Smart marketing starts with New England daily newspapers

EDITOR & PUBLISHER'S MARKET RANKINGS

This year EDITOR & PUBLISHER has once again compiled market-ranking tables to help advertising and marketing executives plan programs for the coming year.

These tables have been a feature of the E&P Market Guide since they first appeared in the 1964 edition. The rankings, based on E&P estimates for 1985, are shown for five categories: population, disposable personal income, total retail sales, food sales, and income per household.

Rankings are provided for all cities or communities in the United States in which newspapers are published on a daily basis for all counties whether daily newspapers are published in them or not, and for all metropolitan statistical areas in the United States, as defined by the Office of Management and Budget.

The tables are tabulated by computer and are based on the 1980 U.S. Census and the 1977 Census of Business, and 1985 research estimates by the Marketing Economics Instituted Ltd.

Leading U.S. cities, counties and metropolitan statistical areas ranked according to EDITOR & PUBLISHER estimates for 1985

Newspapers. We can open doors for you

More than two-thirds (67%) of Canadian adults read a daily newspaper on any given weekday. Furthermore, almost nine out of 10 (87%) Canadian adults look into a daily newspaper during a week. On average they read almost four out of all five weekday issues.*
This massive exposure is the key that opens doors to more sales.

14 - NEWSPAPERS: HERALD (e-mon to fri) 3,875; sworn Sept. 30, 1983.

Reach The Unreachables.

The Young.

We deliver 60.4% of adults 18 to 34 with any daily issue.

The Affluent.

61% of our readers have a household income over $25,000.

The Educated.

50% of our readers are college-educated.

Forget everything you've ever heard about media imperatives, audience fragmentation, or the rise of the suburban daily. In Phoenix, the two metro dailies are still the most effective way to reach this rapidly-growing market—and virtually every important target group within it.

An average daily issue of The Arizona Republic/ The Phoenix Gazette delivers almost seven of every 10 metro Phoenix adults—over 835,000 readers. What's even more impressive, we provide twice the coverage of the local dailies in their own hometowns.

And whether you look at our audience psychographically, demographically, or geographically, you're getting excellent coverage in all those elusive target market groups that require specialized media in other markets.

Such broad-based penetration makes us unique among the nation's leading dailies. In fact, among the top 23 newspaper markets, we rank first in household coverage. And an impressive 4th in CPM efficiency.

All of which proves that the hardest working medium in Phoenix is the easiest buy you'll ever make.

THE ARIZONA REPUBLIC/The Phoenix Gazette

When you buy us, you own Phoenix.

12 - RETAILING: Principal Shopping Centers-Los Angeles is unique in that shopping centers are spread throughout the market and each represents a major shopping center for that area. Downtown Los Angeles thus represents one of many. It extends eight blocks N. & S. from 1st St. to 9th St. & 7 blocks E. & W. from Spring St. to Figueroa. In discussing the retailing structure of Los Angeles, Orange County, which is part of the marketing area and part of the primary market or city and retail trading zone of Los Angeles metropolitan newspapers, becomes an integral part. All following figures are, therefore, for Los Angeles and Orange Counties.
Neighborhood Shopping Centers-In the Los Angeles Marketing Area there are 110 incorporated cities with their central shopping distncts and community shopping centers. In addition there are 56 spacious regional centers, which include department stores, supermarkets, shops, restaurants and parking areas.

You're in Daily News Country.

We're one of the most affluent markets in the L.A. ADI!

Anyway you look at it, the Daily News is a must buy for advertisers wishing to achieve maximum exposure in the Los Angeles ADI. That's because the Daily News is the only newspaper exclusively serving L.A.'s northern, most affluent market.

Consider: In our market, the L.A. Times reaches only one in four households. But coupled with the Daily News, coverage is well over 60% in key, upscale areas.

Just one more good reason why the Daily News really makes a difference. Call us today at 818/997-4111.

Select

The Paper that reflects the market.

In Denver, people with buying power buy The Post.
We're the financial authority in the Rockies, providing the only separate business section published 7 days a week in the region. We are by far and away the quality paper, as measured by both national and local journalistic achievement awards we receive annually. And we have the stat's*. Our readers rate considerably above the majority of the Denver market - as well as above Denver's other daily - when it comes to income, occupation and education level. So if you have something to sell to Denver, select the paper that reflects the market. Buy the Denver Post.

In Denver, People with Buying Power Buy the Post

It's true. We're the financial authority in the Rockies, providing the only separate business section published 7 days a week in the region. We are by far and away the quality paper, as measured by both national and local journalistic achievement awards we receive annually. And we have the stat's*. Our readers rate considerably above the majority of the Denver market - as well as above Denver's other daily - when it comes to income, occupation and education level. So if you have something to sell to Denver, select the paper that reflects the market. Buy the Denver Post.

Represented nationally by The Times Mirror National Marketing Co., with offices in major cities.

Take Off.

Launch sales in the nation's 10th largest market with the newspapers that are in command.

Atlanta is now the 10th largest MSA in the country. And counting.

And while network television viewership declines, Atlanta Journal-Constitution readership and circulation are up. We're now reaching over 1,000,000 Atlantans on a single Sunday. Combined daily readership has grown 21% over the past two years. And circulation is taking off—with strong increases seven days a week.

So if your mission is to reach Atlanta with power to spare, buy the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and come along for the ride.

Because the sky's the limit.

Bringing you Hawaii...

Hawaii ranks 4th nationwide in per household retail sales, and 4th in median household effective buying income (EBI).*

The Honolulu Advertiser and the Honolulu Star-Bulletin cover the entire state with a single discounted unit rate. On Oahu, the major market area, these newspapers reach more than seven out of ten households. There is only one way to reach the booming Honolulu market and its 4 million annual tourists.
